Our Friends include those that have been diagnosed or are undergoing cancer treatments (patients), caregivers, and immediate family members. The goal of the foundation is to provide services in the form of acts of kindness to provide these individuals support during their cancer journey. Through these efforts, a community of Friends is built to provide ongoing support.

Services provided to Friends may differ based on their current "stage" of their cancer journey. While services may be similar across stages, how and when those services are delivered may vary based on the individual's situation.
